Dear Sirs

Third Party Product Certification of Valbarr S/F 120

I write to confirm that we (IFC Certification Limited) have been progressing product certification with Valmiera Glass UK Ltd. to enable their Valbarr S/F 120 Fire Barrier System to be certificated in accordance with our UKAS Accredited product scheme. This certification requires independent 3rd party fire testing of the products to EN 1364 part1: 2015 in UKAS Accredited laboratories and both initial and ongoing factory production control audit of the manufacturing controls applied by the manufacturer to the product.

We confirm that Valmiera Glass UK Ltd. have provided applicable satisfactory fire test evidence as required by our certification scheme and that we have undertaken successful FPC audit of their Valbarr product manufacture and that formal certification documents will be issued in the near future.

The IFCC Certification Scheme for Fire Protection Products is an independent third party scheme accredited by UKAS and addresses a wide variety of passive fire protection products. We would confirm that the IFCC Scheme is equivalent to other similar product certification schemes operating in the fire protection market and is accredited to the same standard (ISO 17065) by UKAS.

We trust this information meets with your requirements, however should you wish to discuss this further please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours sincerely

Ian Woodhouse
